

Corporate Finance Associate

Edinburgh – competitive salary, benefits and bonus

Quayle Munro is a leading independent merchant bank with offices in Edinburgh, London and New York. The bank has four activities: corporate finance, public finance, fund management and principal investment. With the recent acquisitions of New Boathouse Capital and The van Tulleken Company, Quayle Munro's corporate finance team now comprises over 25 professionals across three offices. The team advises private and public companies, entrepreneurs, owner-managers and private equity firms.

The Role

Quayle Munro is expanding its corporate finance team in Edinburgh and is looking for a highly motivated associate to join a team providing advice on M&A, project finance, restructuring and public company transactions across a range of sectors. Current mandates include engagements in the oilfield service, renewable energy, waste and financial service sectors.

The Candidate

The successful candidate is likely to have experience in an investment bank, a big 4 firm of accountants, private equity or other related corporate environment. An understanding of the dynamics of corporate M&A transactions and/or project finance and the ambition to originate and execute deals is critical. The successful candidate will have good commercial awareness, be highly numerate/PC literate and have excellent writing and presentation skills.
